The three-arm control: A gives the reference, R controls for the smaller training set, C measures the value of correct labels